

Figure 1 consists of two panels, (a) and (b), each showing a scatter plot of the number of correct responses (Y-axis) against the number of trials (X-axis). The X-axis for both panels ranges from 1 to 10. The Y-axis for both panels ranges from 0 to 10. Panel (a) shows data for a single condition, with points generally increasing from left to right. Panel (b) shows data for two conditions, with points generally increasing from left to right. Both panels include a linear regression line and a correlation coefficient (r).
